

Dedicated to Mr. Foster

Mr. Foster
loves
US

Mr. Foster is the mayor of the library. Come in any time of day and you will find Mr. Foster chatting with someone. His friendly face has been the reason many students choose to spend their time in the library. How can one man have something to say on every subject? Somehow, Mr. Foster does! He'll spend 20 minutes discussing football and in the next breath he's on the subject of smooth R&B. Every student who has been in the library sometime in the past three years knows that Mr. Foster is there to listen, literally about anything. His kindness is contagious. I believe that the students who know him understand he works hard to be there for them every day. On good days and on bad days he shows up with a smile. Mr. Foster teaches the lesson to students that no matter the obstacles in your path, you can overcome by surrounding yourself with people you care about. The students are the best part of the job for Mr. Foster, and I believe on his worst days they inspire him to get out of bed. Since the spring of 2013, I have had Mr. Foster by my side and I believe the library is a better place because of it. I believe he makes me a better person. He allows me to panic, but will always reassure me that everything is going to be ok. Loving the person that works side by side with you is a gift, and I appreciate his presence every day.

Arianna Grassia
Librarian Extraordinaire

It is crazy to think that, as seniors, we have almost run out of time at Hastings High School. For most of us, the first day of freshman year is still a vivid memory in our minds, walking through the door for the first time and getting our first taste of high school. Senior year has been a crazy ride of emotions, but in the end, it has really brought us closer as a grade and as leaders of the school. I am so happy to have been a part of this smart, spirited, and fun group of people.
